

15), the electrode tip and the electrode holder being provided with corresponding fitting contours so as to achieve mutual locking without threading the electrode tip to the electrode holder.

B1